The figure displays a 20x20 grid with a dashed border. The top edge of the grid is labeled with column indices 17, 18, 19, and 20. The grid is populated with 1000 particles, each represented by the digit '1' inside a small circle. The particles are distributed across the four quadrants of the grid, with a higher density in the bottom-left quadrant. The distribution pattern suggests a central source or a specific physical process, with particles spreading outwards from the center.
