The diagram illustrates a square region defined by a dashed border. Inside, a grid of points is shown, each labeled with the number '1'. The points are arranged in a pattern that suggests a hexagonal lattice. The top edge of the square is labeled with indices 17, 18, 19, and 20. The points are distributed across the square, with some points missing or shifted, particularly along the right edge, indicating a specific boundary condition or a particular configuration of the lattice.
